

I do not think that cell phone usage should be allowed during flights. Too many people don't know how loud they are talking and it would be disruptive to other passengers.